iCademy® has provided me with lasting support in better managing our in-house ERP environment and providing more targeted support to our developers.

As a non-developer, I have since been able to conduct independent process and error analyses and pass on clearly formulated and structured development tasks to our programmers. This facilitates collaboration, provides significantly more confidence and autonomy in my day-to-day work, and frees up capacity for other tasks.

For me, the training also served as an important foundation for advancing from a purely administrative role to a leadership position within IT and for shaping the strategic direction of ERP development.

Looking back, after four years now, iCademy® has truly been a tool that empowers me to help myself.

Reference quote

Together with PKS, we sought a way to modernize the user interface on the Power i that our younger colleagues could also get on board with, and we found it.

With Valance, we've now taken a first, important step toward modernizing our UI. The included tools, such as Nitro App Builder and Sencha Architect, also give our team the ability to create apps on their own.

PKS provided us with expert and straightforward support during the implementation phase by helping us build our initial knowledge base, so we look forward to continuing our collaboration with in-depth technical expertise and innovative concepts.
